PRESS RELEASE

MARK PICKS UP TOP ISA IRELAND AWARD

Cork Institute of Technology Graduate, Mark Casey, has received ISA Ireland's award for the best final year Honours Degree student studying applied physics and instrumentation in Ireland. Open to all third level institutions on the island of Ireland, Mark was selected for his academic excellence and the quality of his final year project.

Mark is from Garranfort, Grange, County Waterford and did the Leaving Certificate in Scoil Na Mbraithre before choosing to study at CIT.

ISA Ireland is the Irish section of the International Society of Automation (originally the Instrument Society of America).

Mark graduated in October 2012 with a first class honours degree in Applied Physics & Instrumentation and is employed by multinational PACIV's Irish operation. PACIV is located in Carrigaline where another CIT departmental graduate, Emmett Martin, manages its operations. Mark is currently on assignment in Italy.
